McLean, VIRGINIA (October 16, 2012) – Washingtonian and Northern Virginia Magazine have named Eileen O'Connor as a top wealth manager. To compile the lists of leading financial planners, wealth managers, accountants and estate planners, the publications surveyed thousands of industry experts and asked them to identify the leaders in the field.

"I am honored to have been recognized for the third year in a row," said O'Connor. "It is especially rewarding to be recognized by my peers for the positive impact we are making on our clients' financial lives. It reaffirms my commitment to providing the highest level of wealth management services available in the marketplace."

O'Connor acts as 'personal CFO' for a limited number of affluent executives and retirees and their families. Her fee-only wealth management practice incorporates investment management, advanced planning, and managing relationships with other experts on behalf of her clients. O'Connor holds the CFP® professional designation, an MBA from Harvard Business School, a B.S. in Finance from the University of Virginia, and an Executive Certificate in Financial Planning from Georgetown University. O'Connor is widely recognized as an expert in wealth management, specifically on challenges of women of wealth.
